EVER SINCE THE CORONAVIRUS (covid-19, or CV-19) first reportedly hatched in China, up to the present time, important information has either been left out of newspaper and TV reports, or it has only been reported on rare occasion.

A prime example is the high number of CV-19 recoveries, along with strong evidence of inaccurate, deceptive counting of “cases” and “deaths.”

Indeed, most of the conventional newspaper and TV reports focus on “cases” and “deaths,” without ever explaining that the vast majority of people who come in contact with the virus either experience minor to moderate symptoms, or they don’t get sick at all. The recovery rates have hovered around 98% throughout the entire covid-19 ordeal.

THE CDC’S HUGE NEW FRAUD

Only six percent of Americans who have died with covid-19 died strictly from the virus and not from other causes, according to new numbers from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) released in late August 2020.

According to the CDC’s latest CV-19 provisional counts, covering Feb. 1 through Aug. 22, 164,280 Americans have suffered deaths “involving covid-19.” That, of course, can mean anything, including:

- Having had a recent positive CV-19 test (which may or may not have been accurate); or
- Having tested positive months earlier; or
- Having simply been declared positive, using guesswork based solely on symptoms (with hospitals facing strong financial incentives to claim CV-19 deaths).

For the sake of argument, however, let us assume that the CDC’s numbers are entirely valid. Out of those 164,280 deaths, the CDC calculates that just six percent

The CDC’s own data reveals clear evidence of fraud vs. the people of them, or 9,857, were caused solely by CV-19.

“For deaths with conditions or causes in addition to COVID-19, on average, there were 2.6 additional conditions or causes per death,” the CDC says. In other words, 94 percent of those who died “with” CV-19 already had two or more other serious health issues such as hypertension or diabetes.

Remember, dying “with” covid-19 could mean that the deceased person simply was found to have the coronavirus in his or her bodily system. For one thing, it’s entirely possible that the assumption that the deceased person even had the covid-19 virus to begin with is wrong because the test may have yielded a false positive; furthermore, even if the test was accurate, the mere presence of the virus does not prove conclusively that the viral infection ever got severe enough to contribute to the death of the individual. or to even make the person sick.

In addition, age was a major contributing factor. Ninety-two percent of deaths involving CV-19 occurred among individuals aged 55 and older. Those age 75 and older accounted for 58 percent of such deaths. Hence, it is hardly surprising that 22 percent of CV-19 deaths occurred in nursing homes and long-term care facilities, where most residents are both aged and infirm. That number is considerably higher in states, such as Michigan, that ordered these facilities to accept CV-19 patients. That number would be even higher in New York if that state had not changed its counting method to disguise the order’s deadly results.

Despite the regrettable deaths, the CDC’s statistics should be considered good news even though fraud is involved. Thus, after endless scare stories, the CDC’s data is finally revealing that CV-19 has thus far played a role in the deaths of only 0.05 percent of the U.S. population, and it was the sole factor in the deaths of a mere 0.003 percent.

However, the reckless and irresponsible major media outlets thrive on coronavirus panic and have continually bark out “cases” and “deaths” while saying little about the high number of covid-19 recoveries.

In fact, their hysterical reporting of “cases” and other meaningless statistics has led Americans to believe that CV-19 has wiped out nine percent of the U.S. population. That’s 180 times the number of people the CDC claims have died with CV-19 and 3,000 times the number the agency says have died from it..

Also consider the message we get from most government officials, who are currently enjoying power trips courtesy of the fear they have helped instilled in their citizens. If those citizens were to become sufficiently aware of the CDC’s latest statistics and other relevant facts, they might just conclude that forced masking, as well as lockdowns, shut-downs and often-severe limitations at schools, libraries, sporting events, etc. were all a bad idea that did far more harm than good (e.g., masking causing oxygen deprivation, while lockdowns have been causing spikes in unemployment, suicides, drug abuse, alcoholism etc.).

And with government and big media working hand-in-hand to frighten the working population, the people also have endured limitations of government functions (such as the canceling of public meetings, and the prohibition of voting at polling places) closing off the avenues that people use to be heard.

TURN OVER FOR MORE >>>

THIS MAP has tiny dots each representing 100,000 people. The upper-left large darkened section represents over 40 million tests as of July 19, 2020. The smaller set of darkened dots just below the tests represents “cases” while the tiny mark below the cases represents alleged covid-19 deaths.

Bottom line, this means that the frenzied push for vaccines should be abandoned right now. There is no pressing need to rush an untested vaccine into production and inoculate large numbers of people, especially considering the super-strong profit motive the big drug companies have to rush risky vaccines to market and cash in with our tax dollars at the U.S. Treasury.

But what has become a CV-19 police state, once and for all, must be ended. Never again should people be literally forced to wear a mask. We can and should open our society and let the healthy resume normal lives, and just use common sense. Only the elderly and those especially vulnerable to any illness, not just CV-19, need be sheltered. But that should never be done in a manner that denies them adequate fresh air and direct contact with loved ones, which keeps their immunity stronger. Tyranny, or total government control, regardless of the situation, is itself a “germ” that can cause great harm.

Indeed, the so-called government “cure” can quickly become worse than the so-called disease. Political power ultimately comes from the people. Just as one person does not have the authority to force another person to wear a mask or take a vaccine, lawful democratic government cannot take that authority, delegated to it by the people, and force medical measures of any kind upon the people against their will. Any government that breaks that principle is unlawful and illegitimate.

The real question as this CDC admission unfolds is: What should be done with CDC and other government agencies at the federal, state and local levels, including counties? They have enforced policies that have harmed or ruined businesses and other institutions, while causing the avoidable deaths of scores of people.

The same question must be asked of the mass media. Answers must be demanded immediately. And lawsuits must flow. This is the USA. We are a free nation!

HOW ARE CASES AND DEATHS COUNTED?

On May 18, 2020, a meeting of the Collin County Commissioners near Dallas, Texas featured a health official who reported to the board on new criteria for counting “cases” and “deaths” statewide. The board learned that “probable” cases were being added to the mix, meaning that a person without a lab test could officially be defined as a “case.” For instance, a person need only have one major symptom (cough, shortness of breath or difficulty breathing), or two minor symptoms (e.g., fever, chills, headache, sore throat) and they could be labeled a “probable case” even though a “subjective” fever WITHOUT A THERMOMETER READING was deemed acceptable. This is PURE GUESSWORK. IT IS NOT SCIENCE. Repeat, it’s NOT science!!

It used to be that a case could only be based on a test with a lab result; mere symptoms were not enough. But under the new Texas guidelines, that was completely changed, to the point where all of the regular human contacts of the supposedly infected person can be automatically and uncritically counted as “probable” cases and added to the case count.

“So, that still gets added toward the case count. It’s different--it’s not confirmed--it’s ‘probable,’ but it’s still a case,” County Epidemiology Official Aisha Souri told the Collin County Board.

Based on that approach, Souri said that one supposedly “confirmed” case (involving the common but unreliable PCR test) could easily result in 17 cases (one “confirmed” and an additional 16 “probable”) stemming from a particular scenario where the “infected” person supposedly infects an estimated number of friends, co-workers, neighbors and their family members.

However, people with different circumstances (larger families, more contacts outside the home in terms of neighbors, friends and co-workers) could result in one “confirmed” case with 30, 40, 50 or more “probable” cases tossed into the mix! This is more fraud!

DEATHS BEING RE-DEFINED, TOO

“They also updated the definition of deaths related to covid-19,” Souri added. “Previously, it was only if you had a positive PCR [test] result that you would be counted as someone who died related to covid-19. Now, that testing is no longer required to be counted towards that.”

County Judge Chris Hill (board chairman) remarked, “If you have a subjective fever [without a thermometer reading] and you have a headache . . . you now meet the qualifications to be a probable covid-19 patient. I don’t think it can be over-stated how much this could . . . give a false narrative to our citizens. . . . I’m very concerned we could see the numbers jump very rapidly.”

And, lo and behold, “cases” spiked soon after the concept of “probable” cases was raised in Texas, which has 254 counties and suddenly was among the “hotspots” for new “cases,” along with Florida, Arizona and some other mostly southern states.

Thus, the proof that all so-called CV-19 deaths were actually caused by the coronavirus is severely lacking. That, of course, is because deaths caused by other medical conditions are often erroneously reported as “CV-19 deaths.” This is very deceptive.

Things get even clearer when you consider an especially interesting item issued by the National Vital Statistics System, or NVSS (a division of the CDC which is a federally supported local, state and national system of sharing data). Back on March 24, 2020, the NVSS announced a new ICD Code for CV-19 deaths. Starting with a question and then answering it, the NVSS, word for word, issued the following statement:

“Should COVID-19 be reported on the death certificate only with a confirmed test? COVID-19 should be reported on the death certificate for all decedents where the disease caused or is assumed to have caused or contributed to death.”

Notice the word “assumed,” and take note that the underlined words in that statement were emphasized by the NVSS, not by the CITIZEN REPORTER.

That means CV-19 confirmations are not required for listing a death as being caused by CV-19. Let that sink in for a moment.
